AN ENGLISH & CHINESE COOKERY BOOK, BY J. DYER BALL.

Containing 200 Recipes in English and Chinese.

EXTRACT FROM PREFACE:

"The Compiler has prepared this work in consequence of several person thaving spoken to im of the great want of a Cookery Book, which could be placed in the hands of native cooks in foreign employ. It has been his endeavour to arrange the contents in such a systematic form as to ensure facility in use. It has not been without difficulty that, the phraseology as well as the terminology employed in foreign cookery has been rendered into the equivalents in Chinese, Flowing sonorous periods and a high classical style have not been the objects aimed at, but the rendering of the Recipes in such a clear and simple style as to be readily understood by the average Chinese cook, who, though able, as a rule, to read and write, is not generally a highly educated individual. The foreign resident can thus order any Dish, by showing to his Cook the Chinese translation of the English Recipe, and get what he wants, provided the Cook closely follows the instructions given.

HONGKONG, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1890. The large sum of $233,572, representing this colony's military contribution to the Imperial Government for the current year, has been solemnly passed in the Legislative Council by the official majority of one, notwithstanding the unanimous opposition and emphatic protests of the unofficial members and in the teeth of an adverse and indignant public opinion. It would be useless looking at such a scandalous "squeeze" through rose-colored spectacles, or discussing it in that mealy-mouthed fashion which our contemporaries so delight in when glossing over the shadier sides of Imperial policy in regard to our greatly vaunted colony; this crushing military exaction on a community already too heavily overburdened with taxation and borne down with the weight of ts financial responsibilities, to be properly understood must be shown to world in its true colours. To have our hard-earned money, which is urgently needed for the I numerous public works acknowledged to be indispensable for the colony's legitimate progress and the health and comfort of its inhabitants, wrung from us to assist in defraying the cost of maintaining what are almost exclusively Imperial interests and in which we have only a comparatively outside concern is bad enough in itself; but when we find that this monstrous imposition means a gross and deliberate breach of faith on the part of the British Government towards the Hongkong Administration, and that this colony has been saddled with a heavy military tax for an imaginary protection that is not actually required for any local purpose, and which, moreover, has no Baring as chairman. Upwards of a million of tangible existence, so far as the extra soldiers are concerned, except on paper, it becomes too infamous to be tamely submitted to. And yet what can we do for our own defence against this flagrant injustice? Absolutely nothing. course the official members of Legislative. Council are not to blame for this latest War Office raid, on the local Exchequer; they are mere automatons at the beck and call of the Governor, who is equally under the thumb of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and are bound to vote exactly as instructed without reference to their own opinions, thus making the proceedings in Council here a contemptible farce. The Acting Governor has, as customary, promised to forward o.75 the protest of the unofficial members to Lord Knurspord, together with his own views on the subject; but his Excellency might just as well save himself the trouble, for all the good effect either the public. THE latest Paris novelty is a hand-painted shirt protest or his own views are likely to have with the omnipresent wire-pullers in Downing Street. Hongkong is a fi victim for bleeding in defence of ram-same time economical local defence for Hongkong is not easy of solution. With 1.50 the additional new regiment, artillery, and other accessories, so long promised 2.00 but yet existing only in imagination to far as this colony is interested, for which we have had to pay so liberally, the island will have too many defenders in peaceful times and by far too few in the event of any war breaking out in which Great Britain would be opposed by either France or Russia. No other Powers need be taken into consideration, and the possibility of even our ancient allies, unless in combina-1.10 tion with the Russians, threatening serious danger to Hongkong must be admitted to be very remote. And whilst the risk from outside fees is so infinitisimally small, all z.co | serious dangers from internal outbreaks have passed away. Our Chinese fellow citizens are essentially orderly and lawabiding, and are becoming more and more habituated to English laws, habits and customs. Notwithstanding our proximity to Canton, with its estimated population of nearly two millions of souls, dot coat at a great sacrifice. Customer-But you and to the turbulent hordes which say that of all your goods. How do you make a have made the Kwangtung province so living? Mr. Isaacs-Mein frient, I makes a notorious, riots in this city are now of schmall profit on de paper und shring, most rare occurrence, and even when different clans fall out, or trade disputes lead to the forcible arbitration of the national bamboo, a posse of policemen have no difficulty in quelling the disturbance and arresting the ringleaders, The vast body of Chinese residents are thoroughly loyal to the Hongkong Government, and as we have brought Chinese policemen and Chinese firemen to a creditable state of efficiency and usefulness, the time has pant Imperialism, and the operation will be continued in spite of all opposition,

And until we have a properly constituted legislative body, like Mauritius for instance, elected by popular suffrage and independent of the official vote, we may talk and contingent. Chinese, when well drilled, spprehended in Ganjum, in Southern India. make admirable soldiers—the best of any Eastern race according to "Chinese"

Gordon, who was a most capable authority -, and there is no lack of available material to work upon... The notion of our training Chinese troops for defensive purposes has been sneered at and laughed down by narrow-minded critics, who have never even taken the trouble to study the subject; but that is always the ase when anything unusual is proposed. The fidelity of our Hongkong Celestials, when treated with proper consideration might with perfect safety be relied on; and although British military authorities may have a poor opinion of their fighting qualities, the records of their recent encounters with the French troops in Formosa and Tonquin, and our own experiences at Taku, are highly meritorious, especially when it is remembered how badly they were led and how wretchedly armed and equipped. UNFORTUNATELY, says the London correspond. ent of the Glasgow Herald, for his popularity with his countrymen in Japan, Sir Edwin has taken lately to writing in the Daily Telegraph letters on the treaty revision question, in which he advocates strongly that the time has come for placing Europeans in Japan under the entire control of Japanese Courts and judges. The Europeans in Japan warmly resent Sir Edwin Arnold's interference in this question against them. He lives in the capital, they say, in an atmosphere of temples, shrines, magnificent cedars, poetry and Buddhism. He has had no business dealings with Japanese, he can know nothing of their administration of the law, and they think it hard that he should use his high literary position to enforce claims against them which are utterly repugnant to them. Thus it has come about that his position in Japan cannot, be over comfortable, and possibly he is not sorry to get.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. THE NEW CENTRAL MARKET.

The Chairman-The first question before us is the vote of $270,000 for total cost of the new market. The estimate does not include $139,441, the amount of monies expended up to the 31st of December, 1889, for purchase of land and the crection of a temporary market.

Mr. Whitehead-Before going into these estimates I would remind honourable members that a statement of details of every item in these estimates was promised, upon my motion on the 4th ultimo. Will the hon, the Surveyor-General kindly lay the promised report on the table?

The Surveyor-General-I am under the impression that the report which I furnished to the Government contained all the necessary information. It can now be furnished to the hon.

The Chairman-The report has been placed in the hands of the members of Council long ago. Has anyone any observations to make relative capital :to the new Central Market?

Mr. Chater-Has the work of constructing foundations been let to Chinese contractors? Mr. Brown-The work of making the foundations is not let under specific contract, but the crection of the superstructure will be.

Mr. Chater-What does the estimate for th foundation amount to? Mr. Brown-Approximately it amouns to $17,000. It is quite impossible estimate it exactly, because in some parts there are difficulties to contend with owing to water filtering through the ground. Mr. Chater—The contract is not let? Mr. Brown-It is let out in sections. pay for what is done. You can't contract unless you tell the contractor exactly what he has to do. We can not determine the and unreliable nature of the ground on which the market is being erected. The Chairman-Perhaps the hon, member on my left, (Mr. Chater) remembers when the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank was being built that water was met with in sinking for the foundations, and that therefore extra expense

Mr. Brown-The way the hon, member suggests is like a gamble. If the contractor has good land to work on he makes a big profit, but if he has difficulties to contend with, thus he becomes bankrupt and throws up the work. If you contract for such work you must be sure that the contractor is a thoroughly trustworthy man; but no respectable contractor will think of binding himself down to any specific figure for work to be done in such soil as the new market foundations are now being made in. Mr. Chater-Who is called on to the measuring of the ground and works? Mr. Brown-The engineer in charge of the

Dr. Ho Kai-When will the market

Mr. Brown-It is impossible to say.

Dr. Ho Kai- Will it take 5 years? Mr. Brown-I should be sorry if it did. have already said that the period required for the completion of the work cannot at present be arrived at, even approximately. The Chairman-For next year you have put down $130,000, can't you do with $100,000. Mr. Brown-I don't think so. It is probable that when the whole of the public works are completed there will be no small surplus of funds. It is better 'to overestimate than to be constantly running to the Council for supplementary grants. I fancy the work will be completed in about 2 years. --

The vote was then agreed to.

THE GAP ROCK LIGHTHOUSE. The Chairman-In bringing the next question before you-the Gap Rock Lighthouse.- I will refer you to the Surveyor General's report on the subject, wherein he says :-

"In the estimates of 1889 the amount provide for this Lighthouse is $70,000. I can, however, find no details on which the estimate is based It is certain that a Revolving Light of the first order could not be constructed, under the most favourable conditions, on such a site for that sum. It should be borne in mind that the conditions under which the Lighthouse is being built are anything but favourable, as a steam tender capable of performing the service to rock exposed to the full power of the waves of the China Sea had to be purchased, and a stat had to be specially organised for this work. After going carefully into the matter I estimate the cost of the Lighthouse at $180,000 less $30,000, the estimated value of the steamship Fame or the completion of the work, thus making the ne cost $150,000. Although this is a large sum compares favourably with the cost of other Lighthouses crected on isolated rocks similarly exposed." This should shows you that the matter has been gone into carefully. I recommend the

Mr. Wodehouse-Do you think $170,000 wi be required for the purpose? Mr. Brown-No, but the greater part of Mr. Whitehead-Is the steamship Fame in Mr. Brown-Yes, to her full value-$45,000.

KOREA.

CHINA'S TRIUMPH-KORIA'S DOOM.

(By our Special Correspondent.)

SEOUL, 19th November, 1892 In my last letter I described a Royal Korean funeral. It is now my luck to describe the obsequies of the Independence of a nation. As the official documents, of which I give. hastily translated extracts, have never yet been published they are worthy of being read with some attention. After the demise of the Queen-Downger, adopted mother of the reigning Prince of Korea, in accordance with established customs on the 21rd day of the seventh moon, Hung Chung Ying a high official, His Korean Majesty's Senior Envoy in Peking, addressed the following communication to the Board of Rites at that

This small Kingdom, a vasual to the Throne, which has from time immemorial reaped the benefits of Imperial favor, even as lately as 1882 and 1884, notably during the two rebellions when the Throne raised us from the earth and saved our ancestors' ashes (bones), we thank again and again for having given us new life. But this small Kingdom has suffered grievously from these two rebellions and the people being in poverty during the past six or seven years the condition has been getting worse and worse. This unfortunate year the mother of my Prince died and the funeral expenses are such that we must economize. Most humbly prostrating ourselves we beg The Great Emperor to give us the instructions and the letter of Condolence which the Throne would be so gracious as to give me to take back to my Master, for we fear that if the Throne sends Envoys we will not be able to accomodate them properly—then would we be sinners evermore. We beg Your Celestial Graciousness, our most affectionate parents, to treat us like a red child (a new born babe) and not inflict any penalty upon us for expressing this desire. If Your Heavenly Majesty bestows the Letters of Condolence upon us to take back, so as to save the trouble of the Envoys, my Prince and my country will ever bathe in thankfulness."

The Imperial officials at Peking are diplomatists of experience, men not to be duped by such shallow arguments presented for the purpose of enabling the Korean King to evade his duty to his suzerain. Thus ran the reply: Rescript from the Throne :- Memorial noted. That Kingdom for centuries past having been the Eastern vassal and reaped Our Graciousness always, on occasions of any death of any members of that Kingdom's household we have always sent Envoys to convey Our Sympathies. Such Missions-have hitherto gone everland making many halts on the way; but this time, not having the least doubt but what that Kingdom is in poverty We will depart from the old rule and make slight changes. Therefore the mission shall proceed by water (sea) with the Pei-yang squadron to land at that Kingdom's port of Jenchuan (Chemulpo). When the ceremonial shall have been performed the mission shall return by the same route. By such a temporary change that Kingdom will incur no heavy expenses. When the Prince of that Kingdom presents you both with presents you are not allowed to accept anything. That prince hearing this Heavenly Declaration will forever be grateful. But you will see that all rites are strictly observed. Let this Decree of Mine be at once obeyed by the Superintendent of Peiyang (of the Northern Seas, Li Hung-chang the once instruct that King to obey."

With such cant reremony was the so-called independent monarch of Great Korea treated. A powerful cruiser was sent ahead to notify the proposed arrival, by sea of the Imperial Envoys, Their Excellencies H'sin and Churg, both Vicepresidents of the Board of Revenue, Generals of the Imperial Guard, Men of the Dominant Races in China-a Manchu and a Mongol. They came unguarded and alone. Being, however, received at Chemulpo or Jenchuan on November 6th by the President of the Home Office and Prefect of Seoul, the highest official in the Kingdom after the King; the Governor of the Province, cunuchs and other mighty mandarins. After sleeping in a specially prepared yamen on the 7th inst, they were met at the ferry Station of Mapoo by His Excellency General Yuan Si Kwai, the Imperial Resident in Korea, The King also sent to Chemulpo, a scroll containing the prescribed rites, which the Envoys had the privelege of perusing and correcting. In this case all was approved. They came in two menof-war The morning of the 8th inst. was fixed for their reception with Imperial, or at least regal, honors. For days past the city had been astir: Every booth on the Main Street, the Louth Gate and the West Gate Streets to say nothing of the roads outside the city, which perhaps had been undisturbed since the arrival and departure of the last Envoys in 1878, were ruthlessly removed. I went out early to see the preparations. The Palace Avenue was occupied by spear-police and banner-men bivouacing in echelon. Soon the stiring clamor of the clairons announced the arrival of the modern armed battalions of the guard, who began to form up in expectation of His Majesty's advent; an occurrence concerning which much doubt prevailed, as the Korean King's decrees and vacillative intentions had been known for some days past. His coming out meaning the recognition of the Imperial suzerainty; while his not

The envoys went to the Great Audience Hall, which had been appropriately decorated. They keeping on the East side and His Majesty on the West, or least honorific side; the Letter of Condolence being placed upon a centre table. The King kneeling executed four Locutorus, that is he prostrated himself abjectly, on all fours, touching the ground with his forehead each time; having burned an incense stick some eighteen inches long he kowlowed once more. The Envoys then took the Imperial Eulogy to the Hall, where was placed the mortuary tablet of the deceased Queen-Downger; which was a narrow planed wooden shingle a little over a foot in height upon which was written the name of the departed, and placed vertically upon a stand was supposed represent her personality. The scroll was then unfolded, the senior Envoy handing it to the King who respectfully, kneeling down, read it The Imperial Commissioners still retaining their positions on the eastern side, during this ceremony. The King then wailed three times. "Igo! Igo! Igo? knelt three times, kowtowing thrice each time, calling out in a loud voice: "Man Souell Man Souell Man Man Scueil Ten thousand years! Ten thousand years! Ten times ten thousand years !-- as homage to his Imperial Master on the Dragon Throne at Peking. All the civil and military officials then knelt and repeated the same ceremony and the same cries, and then trumpets flourished and the royal band played.

The Imperial Commissioners then made three obelsances before the tablet, and wailed three times in the Manchu tongue "Uhu! Uhu!

I almost forgot to chronicle, that before they entered the Tablet Hall the Envoys retiring to a yellow slik tent changed their costumes for black robes, as also did His Majesty, who appeared at first in the unbleached hempen grass-cloth, indicative of the deepest mourning. Leaving the Tablet Hall and again changing their costumes the representatives of the Son o

After going back to the Audience Hal the lesser Kingdom again recognized its subjection to the Greater Empire, by its sovereign kneeling and executing four kowtows as the Envoys took their leave.

Now, what was the scoret able, was spent by the Emperor's Deputies and the ruler to whom they were accredited in resting from the fatigues of their journey and the functions of the previous day.

Strange as it may seem, in spite of Declara-Independence and treaties to the contrary, the right of justice high low passed at once into the hands of the Imperial legates, as also the disposal of the keys of the capital. Morning and evening the King sent a cunuch from the Palace asking them to name the time for the opening and closing of the city gates. The signal for which was daily given, save on the ninth, by the consecutive explosion of three bombs at the Nam-Pel-Kang.

A large number of the highest Korean mandaring with troops camped in the spacious courtyards of the Chinese officials quarters.

On the tenth instant His Majesty accompanied by his usual escort, horse, foot and artillery, entered the Nam-Pel-Kang, by its Eastern gate; changed his costume for a blue one significant of half-mourning in a small house in the second courtyard: sent in by his Supreme Counsellor of State, two very large white cards, with his name inscribed in microscopic characters at the bottom. As soon as the Manchu and Mongol officers, saw the cards they said: "Ching." "Please come." The King entering the third court, which had been covered with mais, took position in a tent on its West side, the how to the second one was also acknowledged, some of the streets, and it is sulmated that I:

end of the year. Mine prospects continue good." The Free Press says the above is a condensation of the manager's fortnightly report which was to have been received in Singapore on the 1st inst. The crushing which has produced the ab. ve resu ts began on the 16 h of October and therefore lasted about five weeks, the battery working only about 12 hours a day during that time The yield seems to be much the same as that of the former crushing and to have averaged about 2 or 21 ounces to the ton. Mr. Bibby intends to continue crushing until the end of the year. and by that time the quantity of gold in hand should be considerable. In face of the above most favorable report it is rather strange that there is no perceptible rise in the value of the Syndicate's scrip. A mine, and a cheaply worked one too, that will yield from 2 to 21 oz. to the ton would, in any other past of the world, be considered a valuable property. But that the shares, in spite of their number, will yet be valuable is a moral certainty.

A serious disturbance took place at Port The ninth being the anniversary of the death | Adelaide to-day at six o'clock. A large body parleying with the few policemen who were on duty, a rush was ma'e, and stones thrown. It was nothing short of a miracle; but I never had Then an adjournment was made to the steamer consumption at all. The doctors were all wrong in. Gulf of Maritan, where some of the officers kept | calling it that. What I actually suffered from was in a bunch to resist the rush. One man made a hit at a non-unionist, but he measured his length on the ground. A further rush was made, but it was quickly stopped. One officer drew his revolver and threatened to shoot the first man who molested him. The crowd then turned round and rushed thesteamer Port Darwin, The police here made two arrests of unionists named Lord and Britton, who were locked up. After chasing a few non-unionists generally, and adding to the excitement, a full for a few minutes took place followed by a greater outburst, which was the most serious that has taken place since the strike began. The chief interest was centred in the work by free labour on board the s.s. Burwah, on which it was expected that the gangmen would issue at nine o'clock to work. A gang of free labourers for the steamer Port Darwin was placed between an escort of police, and proceeded towards Robinson Bridge, when "man the bridge" was the cry, and a rush was made by some hundreds of men who had arrived a little while before. The police speedily blocked the path, and a struggle ensued.

The unionists strove to get at the free labourers. SYDNEY, October 29th. With the avowed object of showing that the Imperial representations facing him in two tents strike is not over, a mass meeting of unionists supplied. on the East side. The King bowed to the was held in the Domain this alternoon. The schior Erviy, who returned the salutation and a meeting was preceded by a procession through about 2,000 persons were present. Several violent meeches were délivered and the leaders were blamed for their confuct during the strike, and vilified for having attended the banquet to Laid Carrington last night. Delegates from the southern coal mines said that if the miners in the and Newcastle intended to resume work their fellow-workers must do the same. It was announced that no mo estrike pay was available, but the men were urged to hold out to the end and not to starve themselves while there was plenty in the city., Finally it was decided to send a deputation to l'arliamente to demand a hearing at the Bar of the House. The deputation were interviewed by the members for West Sydney, who explained that the House could not allow and digutation to appear at the Bar, but Mc Abigad undertock to present any petition properly worded from the men. It is understood that the men will wait on Sir Henry Parkes tomorrow afternoon with the object of attempting to persuade him to force the employers to conference.

TOWNSVILLE, October 30th. The unionists applied to the shipping firms this mirring for employment and were coldly, received, the employers stating that they were full handed, and that the free labourers were giving complete satisfaction. The outlook for the unionists recently on strike is very gloomy.

Commenting on the above a Brisbane contemporary says:-"" the cable has told us little this week, and that little has not been very important. Led by the cablegrams sent to London by the Australian labour feaders, who know that if the truth were once admitted all further contributions from Britain would cease. London labour leaders believe, or profess to believe, that the Australian strikers have not been defeated. It is perhaps pleasant to stop the ears for a little, but that can serve only for a day or two at most. The cable service between Australia and Britain is too trustworthy for Mr. Burns and his friends long to persuade themselves, much less the public, that the unionists have not been defeated. There are many rumours of industrial strife in Britain; but these disturbances are, doubtless, in a large measure sympathetic with the Australian strike, and with the defeat of the latter the others will

"THIS MAN WAS FRIGHTENED."

AND on reading the facts it will appear that he had reason to be. The man referred to was Edward Perrip, a guard on the Manchester, Sheffield, and incolnshire Railway. In September, 1887, he met with an accident, which gave a temporary shock to his system. Not long afterwards he began to feel a pain in the chest and had difficulty in breathing, and threw up a great deal of mucus (phlegm). He at once concluded he had some serious milment of the lungs, and sought modical advice. The doctor said it was so, and added that there was no cure for it. and that he could do no more than give him something to ease the pain and the cough. Then the doctor gave Mr. Perrina certificate stating that he was suffering from "Cotarrh Phthisis" which is the professional term for that dreadful malady, Consumption. Further symptoms soon appeared which seemed to confirm this alarming opinion. The poor fellow experienced great pain in eating and a tightness scross the chest which left, he said, "as if some trong man was gripping him around the body under

The rest of Mr. Perrin's narrative is best related n his own words. He said: -"I soon commenced to have a brackish taste in the mouth as if I had been sucking copper. Then 'came cold' chills and sweats, in turn, the cough got hollow, and I raised more than I had done. These torrible symptoms so seared me that I went and consulted the late Dr. Dacre Fox, who was at that time Consulting Physician to the Railway Company and the Infirmary. He examined me carefully, and certified as follows:-"In the case of Guard Perrin. This man is evidently frightened. He is suffering from Phthisis and Dyspensia. Cod liver oil and iron are indicated. "This fully bore out what the other doctor had said, so I now looked upon myself as done for.

took everything I could hear of, I have had gallons of god liver oil and sherry, and have had many quarts of camphorated oil rubbed on my chest, until my wife was sick of rubbing. I was also poulticed continually, but in spite of all this terrific dosing and medicating I got gradually worse. In half-a-dozen words my condition was this: I believed myself to be fast going to the grave with consumption; my friends said so, the doctors said so, and it looked like it if anything ever did. It is understood that consumption is sure death, and I made up my mind for that awful end. I had been off my work from 1887 to 1888. I was ashamed to be away so much, as I was obliged to draw funds from the Club all the time to help support

While I was thus doing nothing but waiting to die, crawling about feebly like a man who has virtually dene with this world, I happened one day to meet Inspector Rippon, of Ardwick Station, one of the Traffic Inspectors of our line. He was shocked at my looks, but said. 'Perriu. I don't know as anything will help you; but, if anything will, it is Mother Scigel's Curative Syrup.' I remember that this idea amused me, miserably broken and ill as I was. Help me? Could it cure consumption? Not likely! Impossible! Still it couldn't make me worse, and so I got a bottle and began to take it. I could scarcely credit my own feelings, but as sure as truth is truth, before I had used up that bottle of medicine, I found relief. Now comes what you may find it hard to believe -I took but two more bettles and went back to work, and have been sound and healthy ever since. I told the doctor about it, and although he saw I was well, he seemed displeased. "You say Mother Seigel's In the Legislative Assembly to-day, Mr. Curative Syrup cured you?' He said. 'Nonsenso.' enough for thousands of others in this country.

"I am exposed to all sorts of weather, but have never had a return of the bad breathing, chest pains, nor any of the other symptoms that nearly frightened me out of my senses. I cat and enjoy my food as well of this getting well? If I really, had consumption, ndigestion and dyspepsia, which caused the same, symptoms that mark true consumption; hence lots of people who are supposed to have lung complaint might be as easily curol as I was if they could let cod liver oil alone and take Mother Seigel's Syrup." Mr. Perrin's address is-No. 86, Gorton Brook Street, Gorton Brook, England, and he will reply to any letter written to him concerning his case.—[Advi.
